

5.5 Some possible units of Bible lessons

Some topics or themes are worthy of being developed into entire units. A unit is simply a group of lessons on a common theme or topic. A unit is often one month long or three months long, but may be of any length. Longer units allow you to explore various aspects of a larger theme, so the themes can be more general than for a specific lesson.

Here are some possible units of lessons:

Stewardship	Respect	Courage
Prayer	Praise	Duties of Children
Angels	Creation	Judgment
God Speaks	What happens when one is saved?

LET'S PUT IT INTO PRACTICE:

List several general topics which you would like to explore with your class by developing units of lessons for future use (or by finding units of lessons already made on those themes):
